

Purdue's Miller Honored for Service

Purdue University's Alan Miller received a plaque of recognition for his service to the Farm Financial Standards Council at the organization's annual meeting held recently in Bloomington, IL. Presenting the citation is Phyllis Parks, CPA, CVA, the newly elected president of the Council. In making the presentation to Miller, Parks noted his years of service to the council including positions on the group's board of directors and also as its secretary/treasurer, vice president, and president. The Council is a non-profit organization consisting of professionals representing producer groups, banking, the Farm Credit System, accounting, insurance companies, academics and others involved with agricultural production and finance.